THROW A TERRA-STEER...

IN FACT, THE STEER THROWS HIM...

FINALLY...

OH, MY ACHING BACK! I RODE IN EVERY EVENT,
AND WHAT GOOD
DID IT DO?

WHAT DO YOU MEAN,
FRED?

I MEAN NOW I'LL BE EVEN LESS OF A

WELL, WE BETTER MEET THE GIRLS!

WAIT! I JUST WANT TO SAY GOOD-BY!

NYAAAH! I HOPE THE NEXT TIME
I SEE YOU IT'S ON A MENU!

FRED SHOULDN'T HAVE DONE
THAT! TERRA-STEERS HAVE LONG MEMORIES AND SHORT TEMPERS...

THAT MAY HAVE BEEN CHILDISH, BUT IT SURE
MADE ME FEEL BETTER!

WHAT'S THE USE?

Rodney and Twitchy were standing on a corner. Well, they were not exactly standing, they were "sleaning," a combination of slouching and leaning; and they were reading a poster.

"'Are you our town's most useful citizen? If our roving judge sees you doing a useful act, you may win a prize,'" read Rodney.

"Man, what a drag!" Twitchy moaned. "Every beat knows there is nothing more useless than being useful. Those eight-to-five guys lead useful lives, and what do they get? A car, a home, a family, security, but none of the important things we have . . . like . . . er . . . like, you know what I mean, Rod."

"Truesville, pal. Just for laughs, I wonder what the first prize is for being useful," Rodney replied, rubbing his chin.

As they looked at the list of prizes at the bottom of the poster, their faces flushed to several interesting shades of purple.

"'First-prize-one-hundred-dollars,'" Rodney slowly read aloud.

"Rod, I know beatniks aren't supposed to be interested in money, and I'd feel sort of guilty if I won the prize," said Twitchy, "but feeling guilty with a hundred bucks in my pocket wouldn't be so bad."

"Wise words, pal. I'd like a crack at the cash, too, but it's been so long since I did anything useful I can't think of anything."

Twitchy replied, "Man, like helping a man in distress was considered useful when I was a kid. It must still be tops on the list."

Just then, they saw a man in about as much distress as a man could be. His clothes were so patched that the patches even had patches. He looked like a reject from skid row.

Twitchy and Rodney began befriending the old man, all the while hoping the roving judge would walk by and see them doing something useful . . . for a change. At first the man was suspicious, but soon he accepted the boys' offer of food.

About an hour later, after the man had been fed and was clothed in a new suit the boys had bought for him, they said good-by.

"So long, old-timer!" yelled Rodney at the top of his lungs. "We enjoyed doing all the things we did for you. We like doing useful things for our fellow beings."

"Louder," whispered Twitchy. "If the judge is around, we want him to know about this."

The old man turned back to the boys and said, with tears in his eyes, "I have a confession to make, boys. I'm not really poor. I am a millionaire, but I'm a miser, too, and I hoard my money. It makes me ashamed to have you two boys share what little you have with me. Why, you are so poor you have to go about unwashed, unshaven, and wearing old clothes that almost put my rags to shame."

"But, we look like this because we like to look like this," protested Rodney.

"Nonsense! Nobody but a miser would be seen looking like that unless he had to."

So saying, the old man shoved the protesting heroes on a tour of barber shops, steam baths, and clothing stores.

Later, Rodney and Twitchy stood with the old man, looking very uncomfortable in new clothes, tight shoes, short hair, and clean chins. The old miser had even more tears in his eyes . . . because of the money he had spent.

Just then, a man came over to the group. He smiled and pressed a new one hundred dollar bill into the old man's hand.

"I'm the roving judge for the most useful citizen contest. You have performed one of the most useful acts of all . . . rehabilitating two beatniks. You win the prize!" the man exclaimed, slapping the miser on the back.

"Hooray! All this didn't cost me a cent," cried the old man. "I even made ten dollars on the deal and got a new suit to boot!"

Rodney and Twitchy didn't say a word. How could they? They were unconscious!

THE FLINTSTONES IN THERE PITCHING

OKAY, FELLOWS! WE'VE PRACTICED ENOUGH!
TOMORROW WILL BE THE FIRST GAME FOR THE "DINOSAUR LODGE HURLERS"!

WE'LL FRACTURE THAT "BROTHERS OF THE BRONTOSAURUS" TEAM!

WOW! WOULDN'T IT BE SOMETHING IF OUR TEAM GOT ALL THE WAY TO THE
INTER-STATE FRATERNAL CLUBS PLAY-OFF?

IMPOSSIBLE!
REMEMBER WHO IS PITCHING!

VERY FUNNY, BUT WITH THE UNBEATABLE COMBI-NATION OF FLINTSTONE
ON THE PITCHER'S MOUND
AND RUBBLE BEHIND
HOME PLATE, WE CAN'T LOSE!

I THINK WE'D DO BETTER WITH BOTH OF YOU ON THE BENCH!
HA, HA, HA.

WE'RE TEASING,
FRED!

I HAVE TO WRITE DOWN ALL YOUR LAST
NAMES AND TURN IN THE TEAM ROSTER
FOR THE GAME TOMORROW!

LATER...

WHY DON'T YOU BOYS
FORGET THAT SILLY GAME AND COME IN TO EAT.

JUST A COUPLE MORE PITCHES, WILMA!

SHORTLY...

ONLY YOU TWO COULD DO IT.
YOU BOTH MANAGED TO SPRAIN YOUR ARMS AT ONCE.
BUT IT'S NOTHING SERIOUS!
JUST DON'T USE THEM FOR A FEW WEEKS!

NOTHING SERIOUS?
BUT, DOC! WE HAVE TO PLAY BASEBALL
TOMORROW!

OUT OF THE QUESTION!
GOOD DAY!

WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO, FRED? WE CAN'T LET DOWN THE BASEBALL TEAM!

YOU AND YOUR SILLY
BASE-BALL!

IF IT WASN'T FOR THIS THING, YOU
WOULDN'T HAVE HURT YOURSELVES!

FRED, DID YOU SEE THAT?

I SURE DID! THE FASTEST
AND STRAIGHTEST BALL
I'VE EVER SEEN! WILMA,
CAN YOU DO IT AGAIN?

THONK!

SURE! I GET PLENTY OF PRACTICE
TOSsing BETTY STUFF FROM MY WINDOW TO HERS! IT'S A SYSTEM
WE WORKED OUT TO SAVE STEPS!

AND I NEVER MISS A CATCH, EITHER!

(ULP!)
SHOW US!

BUT IN A SHORT TIME THE BOYS'
HAPPINESS TURNS TO SORROW...

NEXT DAY...

I FEEL SILLY CARRYING THESE THINGS
WHERE PEOPLE CAN SEE US!

THAT'S THE POINT!
OUR WIVES WILL BE ABLE TO SEE US TOO.

BUT HOW WILL US BEING WITH DUMMIES BOTHER THEM?

FROM THE FIELD THEY WON'T BE ABLE TO TELL THEY ARE DUMMIES, DUMMY.

(ULP!) I DON'T BELIEVE MY EYES!

I DON'T BELIEVE YOUR EYES, EITHER!

HEY, WILMA! WHAT'S COME OVER YOU?
TAKE IT EASY!

GRRR!

SMAACK.

FOUL BALL!
ABOUT THE FOULEST I'VE EVER SEEN!

COME ON BETTY. WE'VE GOT MORE IMPORTANT BATTLES TO FIGHT.

RIGHT.

PANIC IN THE PARK

I'M TIRED OF YOU TAKING ALL THE CREDIT FOR PEBBLES, WILMA! AFTER ALL, I'M HER FATHER! I'M GOING TO PUSH HER AROUND THE PARK A FEW TIMES AND GET THE COMPLIMENTS!

BYE-BYE, FRED!

I'LL TAKE THIS CHANCE TO SAY HELLO TO THE NEW FOLKS WHO MOVED IN ACROSS THE STREET!

HI! I SAW YOU COMING OVER! I'VE BEEN MEANING TO SAY HELLO, BUT WE'VE BEEN BUSY MOVING IN.

I KNOW WHAT YOU MEAN ABOUT BUSY! I'VE GOT A NEW BABY!

REALLY? SO DO I!

MY HUSBAND IS PUSHING HIM IN THE PARK RIGHT NOW! COME ON IN, AND GET ACQUAINTED!

MEANWHILE...
